Recognizing & Rewarding Healthy Life Choices

Wellness programs are becoming the fastest growing HR initiative in the country. One of the challenges in creating/formalizing a wellness program is finding creative ways to introduce and continuously promote the program.

- Stopped Smoking
- Weight Mgmt. Program
- Walking Jogging
- Engaged in Fitness Program
- Preventative Office Visit

Badge holder attachments are a great means of recognizing employee participation and progress towards wellness. Employees in most organizations have to wear their badges to pass through security. They are an integral part of their company "uniform." Badges are also meant to be visible so the award attachments will be highly visible as well – inspiring co-workers to meet their own wellness goals.

Let us get you started today on ideas to make your wellness program more effective and more inspiring!
